

Unpardonable Sin (7/29/2000)

Unpardonable sin
the taking of a life whether it be man, woman, beast or child unshed blood of a thousand tears penance for too many wars games of men always seem to make victims of the innocent babes, women,
animals of earth, sea and sky The Goddess wreaks her revenge there can be no winners only lost souls abandoned cast by the wayside for earthly pride the arrogance of men foolishly destroys all it touches none left standing in its' wake save the horrified fool.

We must nourish the earth respect the sanctity of life abandon the selling of souls for brief moments of earthly pleasure.
Appreciate all that life offers both in those we love but even more in those we despise for they are simply reflections of ourselves cast in the waters of lessons yet unlearned.
Are we able to see the truths, learn the lessons this time?

Or are we, even now, doomed to repeat the sins of our fathers.....